Speakers and Presentations

JOHN STEPHENSON, Portfolio Manager
Canada – The Sweet Spot of the Global Economy

A seismic change has occurred over the last several years in both the global economy and the stock market. And those changes have made Canada ground zero for investment success. In his presentation, John Stephenson, an award-winning portfolio manager and author, will draw the linkages that have brought the world economy to the brink and he'll tell you how you can prosper from the changes that lie ahead.

DEREK FOSTER, Author

Freedom 34 – The Most Important Action

Derek was able to wave goodbye to the 9 to 5 grind at the age of 34 through investing to create a passive income stream. He will quickly explain his original investment approach and give an update on his recent portfolio changes (and why he made them). Then he will give you the tools to implement the most important factor – which is simple, yet powerful.

ADAM GOODMAN, Author
Bling or Bust: What Your Kids Need to Know About Money

Adam made all the wrong financial mistakes when he was growing up, from not saving his money to not planning for the future. Join Adam as he takes you through his financial life story and shares with you what he should have done differently so you can make sure your children don't end up 28-years-old, broke, and living in your basement! Attendees will learn how to talk to their children about basic financial management principles like the different types of expenses and how to create a financial plan.

DAVID STANLEY, Retired Professor
Beating the TSX – It Works!

“Beating The TSX” is a proven and uncomplicated method of stock selection by which individual investors are empowered to choose a portfolio of 10 Canadian large-cap, high-yielding stocks that has beaten a Canadian large-cap stock index by over 20% during the past 23 years, not taking into account the tax advantages that dividends provide or the long-term benefits of DRIPs and SPPs. The discipline it instills in individual investors allows them to avoid questionable advisors, mutual funds, technical analysis, options, high frictional costs and unnecessary taxes while preserving their capital and building up a core portfolio of Canadian blue chip stocks. For those investors with courage and patience, “Beating The TSX” is a way to improve portfolio performance in up, down, and sideways markets.

STEPHANE RUAH, Investment Advisor
If You Need Income, You Should Come!

Stephane will cover all types of income-oriented products currently in the marketplace. These would include: GICs, bonds, convertible debentures, preferred shares, dividend-paying equities, and income funds. He will uncover the pros and cons of each one and give you recommendations based upon his forward-looking views on the market.

BENJ GALLANDER, Contra the Herd
Simple Rules to Increase Financial Returns

Discipline is a key element of investing. By sticking to a number of clear-cut rules, investment returns can be enhanced. This seminar will focus on a number of those imperatives.

BRIAN QUINLAN, Chartered Accountant
Income Tax and Estate Planning Check-up

Two seminars in one! First, a look at what is new in income tax and what to do to minimize your 2010 income tax. Second, a review of estate planning ideas to ensure your heirs make the most of your estate and not Canada Revenue Agency.
